CORNELL WINS 'VARSITY RACES

Sturdy Ithacans First in Great Match at Poughkeepsie.

PENNSYLVANIA IN FOR SECOND PLACE

'Varsity Four Also Won by Cornell—Syracuse Lead in Freshman Eight, With Cornell Second—Races Decided Between Storms.

(By Associated Press.)
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 23.—Cornell again won the honors in the annual regatta of the Inter-Collegiate Rowing Association held here to-day over the historic four-mile course on the Hudson river. The red and white crews were first in 'varsity eight, the open inter-collegiate championship of the year, and the 'varsity four. Syracuse won the eight-oared event for freshman crews, Cornell being second.

The races were decided between thunderstorms, a particularly heavy one occurring just before the 'varsity eight were scheduled to start. The racing shells of several of the crews were so filled with water that it was necessary to have them pumped out, and this delayed the start until 6:10 o'clock in the evening.

Pretty Struggle.
Exactly 19 minutes 36.45 seconds later the sturdy Cornell crew raced by the judge's boat, a winner by nearly two lengths. Almost bow to bow, and stroke for stroke, the crews of Pennsylvania and Syracuse were fighting it out for second position. It was a prettiest struggle seen here for years, and almost in the last sweep of the oars Pennsylvania forged a few feet ahead. Syracuse was ten lengths in front of Wisconsin, with Columbia four lengths further in the rear, and Georgetown bringing up the rear.

Between Cornell, Syracuse and Pennsylvania, the race was a stiff one throughout. After two of the four miles of the course had been covered, Syracuse sprang to almost even terms with Cornell. Doughtily they tried to hold level with the Ithacans, and it was this early struggle that caused the men in the orange boat to fall just at the last moment, when Pennsylvania challenged.

Other Races

In the four-oared race, won by Cornell, Syracuse was second, Columbia third and Pennsylvania last.

In the freshman race, Syracuse was followed across the line by Cornell, Wisconsin, Columbia and Pennsylvania. Again, in the latter contest, the fight for second place was the real struggle of the race. Wisconsin came within the heel of nipping Cornell in the last few yards of the race.

J., who led the field at the close of yesterday's play. Hobens ruined his chances for the title by requiring 80 for his morning round. He made 76 yesterday, was playing perfect golf.

ANDERSON HIGH GUN YESTERDAY

'Ice-man' Beats Out the Other Fourteen Scatter-Gun Artists in the Field.

GREAT JULY TOURNAMENT

Fifteen of the regular scatter-gun artists faced the traps yesterday afternoon at the Richmond Gun Club, and pulverized the clay saucers to their hearts' content.

Anderson was high gun in both the regular and extra events, going out with 92 out of 100. Janowski was a close second with 91 out of 100.

Lawrence and Buchanan tied with a perfect score, handicap allowed, for the Hotel Lawrence medal. In the shoot-off Buchanan was an easy winner.

Lawrence, in the regular, after the first fifteen, put up one of the prettiest scores seen on these grounds this season, with the last 24 straight, and a run of 84. For a shon, pure amateur, one who has been shooting but two months, this is a remarkably good score.

The grounds are being improved, a new set of Expert traps have taken the place of the Blackbird trap, new underground wires and an improved pull, which add very materially to the comfort of the shooters.

Programmes for the big 4th of July shoot will be mailed to the shooters of Virginia and North Carolina next week. One attractive feature of this shoot will be $100 in gold, given to the ten

MIGHTY MOSER IS AGAIN VICTOR

The Mighty Moser, made mighty because the Lynchburg players work together like pieces of machinery, each piece fitting exactly in its place, won his game yesterday, and it was the victory and mysterious still who was pitted against him.

The Kentucky Colonel lost because the team behind him was not equal to the team that played behind Moser. That's the answer, and there are none who saw the game and followed the plays but who will say that the statement is correct.

Great Crowd Was There.

The score was four to nothing, with the goose egg handed to the men who play under the management of Charlie Sharfer. It was one of the three games given by the Lawmakers, and in presenting it, Moser did not deliver the oration. Eight other Lynchburg players gave Richmond the present, and still happened to be the unlucky one.

A crowd of three, which has not witnessed a game here this season, saw the struggle between the two great pitchers. Moser had pitched sixteen games and won fifteen of them. Still had the good record of having pitched thirteen games and walked away with ten of them. One he tied and two he lost. And when the great curveballs tackled each other yesterday there were more than ten thousand people to look at the game.

Both were even. Money was lost there yesterday, in a sum that will more than double any amount lost or won on any other game here. There were no odds, for both men were classed as "A" and it was a toss-up as to which would win.

The Lawmakers got two in the first inning, when Rowe made two errors and Hinton sent a hot throw to second. With one hit the Lynchburg players scored two runs. From this time on it appeared that the Lawmakers couldn't get back into shape. They were in a jam, and the wheels of fortune didn't turn into their track.

Texas-Leaguer.

Darringer started the business by knocking a Texas-leaguer. The ball was just away from the shortstop and far in for the fielder. Bowen sent one that Reeve didn't handle, and William sacrificed each of the two runners. Kevitt got one down, and Reeve after interfering with the ball so that Cuddy couldn't get it, stood still and looked at the situation over. Holt struck out and Hinton threw to second to catch a runner and threw wild. Darringer came over and Bowen made a minute later. The man retired the side.

The next run made by the visitors came in the third inning, after Bowen, the first man up had scored. Wilson knocked one away for two sacks and scored. McKevitt's drive to rightfield. Holt and Totman were easy outs.

It was Bowen who made the two-bagger in the eighth inning, and the man brought him home with a clean swat of the sphere. This was the last run of the game and it sufficed for the Champions.

Colonel Still allowed five hits, gave one base on balls and hit one man. Bowen fanned after he had put the twist on the ball.

Moser permitted six hits, struck out five men, allowed one base on balls and hit one man.

Still Was the Better.

Comparatively speaking Still was the better, though both men did good work. However, in the fifth inning Richmond made three hits and couldn't get a run.
